Point Mugu Air Show Sept 18-19, 2004

LEADER: Gary Block, Phone 818-393-6701, email: gblock@jpl.nasa.gov

CLASSIFICATION: Easy

COST: Free

TRIP LIMIT: Unlimited

DESCRIPTION:

I have decided to add an Air Show to the La Jolla Canyon Car Camp. The U.S Navy agreed. So, we are going ahead with the revised plan. (You can make this a day trip, if camping is not your thing.)

The 2004 Point Mugu Air Show will be held Saturday and Sunday Sept. 18-19. Gates will open at 8 a.m., both days. Admission to the base and parking are free. This is a very popular event and is open to the public. Reservations are not needed, so you can come anytime. (This event is similar to the JPL Open House, but with a Naval Air theme). My family really enjoys the show.

NBVC (Navel Base Ventura County) will have heightened security measures in place. All vehicles and personnel entering the base are subject to search. Coolers, backpacks, bicycles, skateboards, glass containers and pets are prohibited. The base will not hold prohibited items for guests. The cooperation and patience of guests is greatly appreciated.

This event is located at Point Mugu Naval Base at the intersection of Los Posas Road and Pacific Coast Hwy near Oxnard.

This event is being held about 5 miles from the La Jolla Canyon campsite the same weekend as the car camp, this will make a nice added activity for the JPL Hiking Club car camp. (See the "Endless Summer Car Camp" Flyer or contact me for information on the La Jolla Canyon Car Camp & Air Show).
